DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I (claims 11-25) in the reply filed on 7/11/2005 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 11, 12, 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sato et al. ("Sato") JP 2001-266406.

Sato discloses in figs. 1-8 a phase change material comprising: a chalcogenide 3; a species introduced into the chalcogenide material or Ge.sub.2Sb.sub.2Te.sub.5 (as in claim 12) including nitrogen (as in claim 14); and a species including titanium (as in claim 15) introduced into the chalcogenide (pars. 0020, 0025 and 0028-0029 of machine translated document).

4. Claims 11, 12, 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Horie et al. ("Horie") US PG-Pub 2003/0214857.

Horie discloses (fig. 4 and par. 0194) a phase change material comprising: a chalcogenide 3; a species including nitrogen (as in claim 14) introduced into the chalcogenide material or

Art Unit: 2826

Ge.sub.2Sb.sub.2Te.sub.5 (as in claim 12); and a species including titanium (as in claim 15) introduced into the chalcogenide (pars. 0077 and 0147).

Note that although the prior art meets the claim limitations “to increase crystallization speed”/”to reduce grain size” recited in claim 11, claims directed to an apparatus must distinguish from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function, In re Schreiber, 128 F.3d 1473, 1477-78, 44 USPQ2d 1429, 1431-32 (Fed. Cir. 1997); See also In re Swinehart, 439 F.2d 210, 212-13, 169 USPQ 226, 228-29 (CCPA 1971; In re Danly, 263, F.2d 844, 847, 120 USPQ 528, 531 (CCPA 1959).

5. Claims 16, 17, 19-21 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sato.

Sato discloses in figs. 1-8 a device or a semiconductor memory (as in claim 21) comprising: a substrate 6; and a layer of chalcogenide material 3 including Ge.sub.2Sb.sub.2Te.sub.5 (as in claim 17) over said substrate, said chalcogenide material including a species including nitrogen (as in claim 19) and a species including titanium (as in claim 20) (pars. 0020, 0025 and 0028-0029 of machine translated document).

Regarding claim 22, Sato discloses an insulator 7 over said substrate and under said chalcogenide material.

6. Claims 16, 17, 19 and 21-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Horie.

Horie discloses (fig. 4 and pars. 0194 and par. 0077) a device or a semiconductor memory (as in claim 21) comprising: a substrate; and a layer of chalcogenide material 3 including Ge.sub.2Sb.sub.2Te.sub.5 (as in claim 17) over said substrate, said chalcogenide material including nitrogen (as in claim 19); and a species including titanium (as in claim 20).

Note that although the prior art meets the claim limitations “to increase crystallization speed”/”to reduce grain size” recited in claim 16, claims directed to an apparatus must distinguish from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function, In re Schreiber, 128 F.3d 1473, 1477-78, 44 USPQ2d 1429, 1431-32 (Fed. Cir. 1997); See also In re Swinehart, 439 F.2d 210, 212-13, 169 USPQ 226, 228-29 (CCPA 1971; In re Danly, 263, F.2d 844, 847, 120 USPQ 528, 531 (CCPA 1959).

Regarding claim 22, Horie discloses an insulator 10 over said substrate and under said chalcogenide material.

Regarding claim 23, Horie discloses a heater extending 4 through said insulator to said chalcogenide material to heat said chalcogenide material.

Regarding claim 24, Horie discloses in fig. 4 titanium containing layer under said chalcogenide material.

Regarding claim 25 Horie discloses titanium containing layer being sufficiently proximate to said chalcogenide material that titanium may diffuse into the phase change material upon heating.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 13 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sato/Horie.

Sato/Horie discloses the device structure as recited in the claim, but fails to disclose the recited grain size range. However, it was within one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, therefore would have been obvious, to meet the recited grain size range, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or working ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233. Furthermore, the specification contains no disclosure of either the critical nature of the claimed arrangement or any unexpected results arising therefrom. Where patentability is said to be based upon particular chosen dimensions or upon another variable recited in a claim, the applicant must show that the chosen dimensions are critical. In re Woodruff, 919 F.2d 1575, 1578, 16 USPQ2d 1934, 1936 (Fed. Cir. 1990).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to A. Sefer whose telephone number is (571) 272-1921.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Nathan Flynn can be reached on (571) 272-1915.
